2 Challenge For 3 D.C. Council Seats

By NANCY STANCILL

Two challengers and three incumbents have announced their intentions to be candidates for three Daly City City Council seats up for election next March.

Jane Powell and James J. Tucker will make their bids as challengers, while councilmen Victor G. Kyriakis, William J. Schumacher and McRobert L. Stewart will file to retain the seats they now hold.

The top three vote-getters will be elected to the council March 7.

The filing period for the council race will begin at 8 a.m. Dec. 8 and conclude at noon Dec. 29, according to City Clerk Anna Ohlendorf.

Mrs. Ohlendorf said each candidate must file a petition signed by 20 registered voters to become a formal candidate. There is no filing fee. Petitions may be obtained from the city clerk's office at City Hall.

"It's time a woman was elected to City Council," candidate Powell said. She pointed out that Daly City has never had a councilwoman.

I'm competent. I know how to deal with budgets and personnel," Mrs. Powell added. "I've been involved with city politics for years and I understand the workings of the city."

Mrs. Powell currently is chairman of the Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees. She has been on the board for nine years and has been chairman several times.

The 49-year-old Daly City woman also has been visible as the chairman of the 26-member Citizens Advisory Committee on the Daly City General Plan. She has held the post for the past two years and also served on a previous General Plan committee in 1967.

Other activities include a 10-year stint on the Daly City Recreation Commission. She is employed as a student services aide at Mills High School in Millbrae.

Mrs. Powell resides at 1461 S. Mayfair Ave. She has lived in Daly City for 18 years and is a graduate of Lowell High in her native San Francisco.

Mrs. Powell would like to take part in "implementing the new general plan, making sure that the feelings of all are represented.

"I would like to contribute feelings for harmony rather than division," she added. "People have made Junipero Serra Boulevard a firing line for different sections of the city. We don't have that division on the school district."

Tucker, a probation officer in San Francisco, resides at 173 Mirada Drive, Daly City.

He ran for council unsuccessfully in 1976, but said he bounced back from his defeat to begin campaigning "six months later" for 1978.

Tucker, 33, believes that Daly City "needs a younger group of people running. It shouldn't be stuck in the cycle of electing older people."

The New York City native believes that "I can do a better job than the people on council. The council needs to be more sensitive to the issues of the small people, more in tune with their needs."

Tucker has been chairman of the Daly City Clean Community Committee for eight months and served on the Citizens Advisory Committee studying the General Plan for two years. He chaired the plan subcommittee on environmental issues.

JUHSD Ponders Lowest Scores

Why have Jefferson Union High School District's test scores declined so drastically?

The district's increasing number of transient students, students who speak limited English and students who come from low economic backgrounds are a major factor, according to Superintendent Dr. Floyd Gonella.

"But there are no real excuses," Gonella added.

"We are vitally concerned and we're looking at every aspect, every possible reason," he said.

The JUHSD is one of two high school districts in the county in which the results of statewide testing in all four categories of reading, written expression, spelling and mathematics showed marked declines.

JUHSD students got 61.2 percent of the reading questions, 59.1 percent of the written expression questions, 65.8 percent of the spelling queries and 63.2 per cent of the mathematics questions answered correctly on the 1976-77 tests.

Compared to the rest of the state's students, the JUHSD pupils scored better than only 32 percent of the state's students in reading, 29 percent in written expression, 28 percent in spelling and 34 percent in mathematics.

Gonella said he is "surprised that spelling showed such a drop," from a better average than 51 percent of state students in 1975-76 to the current 28 percent.

"The JUHSD has scored significantly high in spelling in the past six or seven years," he said.

Gonella said there has been no change in the way spelling is taught in recent years.

The JUHSD Board of Trustees was scheduled to meet next Tuesday night to get more information on the testing results from district officials. Gonella said the board and officials would discuss the problem at length.

"We think we have a good curriculum," Gonella said. "Our students do well when they compete for admission to college or for jobs."

But Gonella conceded that the changing population trends in the Daly City Pacifica-Brisbane high school district seems to have affected test scores.

He said that Jefferson High, Serramonte High and Terra Nova High scored "less high" than Westmoor High and Oceana High.

Jefferson, Serramonte and Terra Nova generally have been schools which have showed large minority and ethnic populations in recent years.

In addition, the Daly City Pacifica area has become noted as a section of the county that houses a population which comes and goes.

Gonella said that despite generally lower scores at Jefferson, Serramonte and Terra Nova, the testing shows that the schools scored higher in selected sub-categories.

For instance, he said Jefferson students did better in punctuation and some other writing skills than did the higher scoring schools.

He said the board will continue to look at the subcategories as well as the overall picture at length.

'What Will We Do With Kids Who Will Not Listen to Us?'

Anger and frustration ripped through a room full of curious parents as they listened to Gregory Jensen, assistant administrator for San Mateo County's private defender program, explain the latest revisions to the juvenile court law.

Throughout the meeting, sponsored by Daisy Galon, coordinator of the Neighborhood Family Project in Daly City, and Pat Williams, child welfare attendance coordinator for Jefferson Elementary School District, one question kept reocurring: "What do we do with kids who will not listen to us?"

Parents expressed dismay at a juvenile court bill amendment (AB 3121) effective Jan. 1977 providing incorrigibles, runaways and curfew violators not to be placed in locked facilities.

Prior to the amendment, these youngsters (called status offenders) could be housed in facilities like juvenile halls, jails, county camps, ranches or schools, just as juvenile law violators.

Jensen said status offenders often were dealt harsher punishment than law violators because it often was at parents' requests that they be picked up.

However, the passage of AB 3121 has forced the county to provide separate shelter for these youngsters.

A mother who said she tried for eight years to gain some control over her teen-age son, denounced the bill because "it leaves youngsters literally free to walk away from care facilities and back into the streets.

"What we have now is only a crisis center, nothing long term," she cried.

"I felt castrated, helpless, with no place to turn when my son would bring his friends into my home to smoke pot and steal.

"He is in Hillcrest now. I feel better that he is there," she added.

"I resent, and others here resent, those who say that it is the parents who are the screwups."

Jensen explained that the concept behind the law is "once we get past the cadre of kids who have been institutionalized and start dealing with new status offenders, the crisis centers will begin to work.

Willard Oates, director of the juvenile division of the county probation department, said that "any new legislation is going to have its gaps, and this one does have its gaps.

"The concerns of parents are valid. Some facets of the bill are unclear, some are unsatisfactory," he added.

Jane Powell, Jefferson Union High School District Governing Board chairwoman, pointed out that today there are few solutions to the problem of truants.

If a youngster is picked up as truant and taken to a facility, such as the Neighborhood Family Project, he can "walk right back out if he likes."

She said that the day care center on Mission Street had to be closed when it was condemned by the county as an earthquake hazard. But, she said, that facility

Waiting Ends in Arrests

An alert neighbor and persistent policemen short-stopped an alleged burglary of a home shortly after it began in the unincorporated Colma area community of Broadmoor Monday.

Lieutenant Tom Culley of the Daly City Police Department, which is under contract to Broadmoor for police services, said a neighbor had watched "a couple of men" carry property, including a television set, from 672 Larchmont Drive.

The neighbor called the police. The alleged burglars, in the meantime, spotted the neighbor and fled, dropping household items along the way.

They allegedly had stashed some away in bushes some of the items, for police recovered a "substantial" amount in the 1100 block of nearby Nimitz Drive, Culley said.

When police arrived, they began searching the area for the suspects, ultimately locating a 17-year-old mud-spattered Broadmoor juvenile in the area.

Culley said the Juvenile matched the physical description of one of the suspects, had the right-sized footprints and he was arrested on suspicion of burglary.

In the meantime, the other man got away. But persistent police officers, suspicious of a car, stayed in the area, eventuallly arreting Edward J. LaFargue, 18, of 1540 Sweetwood Drive, Broadmoor, on burglary charges.

Storm Cuts Off Peninsula Power

Dozens of power outages struck the Peninsula between 4 a.m. Monday and 3:40 a.m. today, including most San Mateo County areas.

Durations ranged from momentary to five hours, with the average in the five to 30-minute category, according to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. spokesman Ed Slingland.

Power lines of 4,000, 12,000 and 21,000 volts were knocked down by falling tree limbs or twisted by high winds in San Mateo, Belmont, Burlingame, Hillsborough, Millbrae, Pacifica, South San Francisco, San Bruno, Portola Valley and Woodside, Slingland said, and the damage in these and others areas still is being totaled today.

Typical of the blackouts was one that left 1,320 San Bruno customers in the area bounded by Angus Avenue, Pepper Drive, Huntington Drive and San Mateo Avenue without power from 10:41 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday, Slingland said.

Another blacked out 3,800 customers in Belmont from 7:20 to 8 p.m. Monday when a tree limb fell across a power line, he continued.

Up to 60,000 Bay Area customers were cut off during the storm at one time or another and busy PG&E crews now are replacing 20 to 30 transformers and putting many power lines back up, Slingland said.

Panel OKs D.C., Pacifica Garbage Plan

An appeal to revoke the permit for construction of a garbage transfer station to serve Daly City and Pacifica was denied 10-1 Monday by the Regional Central Coastal Zone Conservation Commission.

The appeal effort was brought by Ruth Paige of the conservation group, Keep Pacifica Scenic, and by Patricia Tatarian, a Daly City woman who resides near the Mussel Rock dump site.

Don Fleming, community development director of Daly City, said the commission action removes all obstacles toward development of the transfer station, except for time.

He explained that Daly City is under a constraint by the Regional Water Quality Control Board to stop dumping garbage at the Mussel Rock site by Feb. 15, 1978.

Daly City and the Daly City Scavenger Co., charged with development of the transfer station at the Mussel Rock site, hoped to have the facility completed by the agency deadline.

Instead, construction has not begun yet and is estimated to take five months, according to Fleming.

Fleming said the scavenger company may have to go to an interim use of the San Francisco Transfer

"small people," Tucker believes that the council has lagged in its housing rehabilitation and Mission Street redevelopment efforts.

"The city has not moved fast enough on rehabilitation," he added. "I am very disappointed. I know things are not being done."

Tucker moved to Daly City in 1970. He holds a master's degree in public administration from Golden Gate University.

Victor Kyriakis has been a councilman for five years. Originally appointed to fill the unexpired term of Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, he won election to council in 1974.

"I believe I've been a very effective city councilman," Kyriakis said. "I feel that it takes a period of time to become effective and I think I've reached my prime."

As a representative of the council's transportation committee and Housing and Community Development Act Task Force, Kyriakis believes "I've tried to get solutions."

A native of San Francisco, Kyriakis has resided in Daly City since 1961. He has served on the city Planning Commission.

"I think it's a good place to raise a family," he said of Daly City. "It has the clean community flavor of a small town."

Kyriakis, 42, is an attorney educated at the Hastings College of Law in San Francisco. He resides at 80 Cliffside Drive.

Kyriakis believes that a primary council function has been "to remain fascally sound with an adequate reserve, to maintain the level of service the public is entitled to and accustomed to."

He believes that his role in working toward housing rehabilitation is "a positive step to preserve housing in an older section of the city."

Schumacher believes his primary contribution to the council is being "a councilman who exercises independent judgment on each issue."

Schumacher, 40, was elected to the council in 1974 as a front-runner. He believes that councilmen should serve only two terms.

"If you can't make a contribution in eight years, let some new faces come forward," he said.

Schumacher practices law in Daly City. He was educated at the Hastings College of Law in San Francisco after a stint as a law officer with the Daly City Police Department.

Schumacher served on the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District for three years.

The councilman cites his major interests on council as work in housing rehabilitation, redevelopment and expanded recreation programs.

Schumacher, who resides at 160 Werner Ave., said he has worked to provide "representation for the varied groups in the city. The city is so diverse that the council has to consider many more interests than are immediately before us."

The San Francisco native, who has resided in Daly City since 1959, said other major concerns include "taking a stand against the proliferation of apartment houses, except for senior citizens."

McRobert Stewart is the incumbent who has served longest on council, eight years.

Stewart, 50, is a Nebraska native who has resided in Daly City for 29 years. He is an assistant manager for White Lumber Co. in San Francisco.

Stewart, who ran unsuccessfull for the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors a year ago, served on the Daly City Planning Commission for eight years before he was elected to the council.

"I've tried to be fair as possible in all deliberations," he said of his eight years on the council. "I don't blow my horn but I'm a very good listener. I try to look at the future."

Stewart said he is proud that he helped to get the North San Mateo County Sanitation District's secondary treatment plant funded during his years as a sanitation district director.

He believes the council did a "pretty darned good job" in setting a tax rate this year that people can live with.

"I try to accomplish programs that will help the entire community," he said of other council actions.

Stewart resides at Southgate Avenue's Westlake Apartments. He is a graduate of Balboa High in San Francisco.

SamTrans Plans Rail Discounts

SamTrans General Manager John Mauro told a Peninsula transportation commission Thursday that his district is proceeding on schedule to offer discount-tickets to railroad commute riders beginning Jan. 1.

Mauro advised the Peninsula Transit Alternative Project Committee (PENTAP) that negotiations are nearly concluded with the Southern Pacific Railroad to give county riders a 30 percent discounty for train travel.

PENTAP is an advisory committee to the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, which coordinates transit activity in the Bay Area.

PENTAP earlier this year endorsed a transit plan which provides for feeder bus service from San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to the SP line and also for upgrading of SP service along the Peninsula.

Phase I of the plan calls for the purchase of SP tickets in bulk by the three transit districts and then offering those tickets to riders at a 30 percent discount. The individual districts absorb the cost of the discount.

Phase II of the plan calls for the purchase of SP commute service along the Peninsula.

Mauro reported that 1,580 county commuters so far have signed up for the discount program. That, he said, represents about 50 percent of the estimated county workers who commute to San Francisco.

Bruno Park Schools May Lose Third of Enrollment

San Bruno Park School District trustees learned Monday night that the district will lose one-third of its students in the next five years, as enrollment continues to decline throughout San Mateo County.

And, as enrollment continues to decline, as it has for the past several years, trustees are faced with the prospect of closing at least one, and perhaps more, of the district's nine schools.

Bob Barron, district administrative assistant, tempered his report on declining enrollment Monday night by pointing out that it is "hazardous to predict the future, and actual enrollment will vary from the projections. But, when viewed with cautions, the projections have a solid base."

For this school year, the district has 2,892 students enrolled in kindergarten through eighth-grade classes. By next year, that figure is projected to decline to 2,644, and by 1982-83, to 1,891.

This represents a loss of 1,001 students during the next five years. The district, since the 1969-70 school year (through this year) has suffered a loss in enrollment of 1,905.

Although projections have been fairly accurate, Superintendent Bill Jennings explained, "We hope that we're wrong on this one."

"I don't see how we cannot close a school now," he said. "Possibly by next September. And there's the possibility for more than one (school closure) at this point."

May stressed, however, that the nature of the small elementary school district is such that the neighborhood school concept will not be lost by the closing of a school.

"Transportation, long busing trips, is not a problem. We'll continue to retain the neighborhood concept," May said.

Another trustee echoed May's comments:

"If we have no money, and declining enrollment continues, we'll close a school," said Trustee Jose Flores. "The only thing now is to say which one."

Involving the public in the decision to close a school also was stressed by trustees.

"We are faced with drastic economic times," said Trustee Christo Pallas, "and we need more input on the closing of a school."

Pacifica Reaction Puzzles Planner

The man responsible for designing a new General Plan for Pacifica is puzzled by the feedback he got from citizens at a recent workshop.

"We've got a problem on our hands," said Bob Ironside of Ironside & Associates. He said he's having trouble deciding which elements of maps prepared by five groups best represent community desires for development in Pacifica.

The 80 Pacificans at the workshop were asked to decide in random groups which portions of the city should be open space, which areas should be residential and commercial property and where a new civic center and corporation yard should be located.

Ironside said Vallemar was the most popular area for both the civic center and corporation yard. The five groups sketched completely different development plans on the blank maps provided by Ironside.

"We're going to have to spend some time going over the maps. It's not all that apparent what people want," Ironside said.

Noting that no group favored either a complete halt to growth or rampant building, he remarked, "I think most responsible people are saying they want controlled growth."

Ironside will attempt to pinpoint where people want that growth to be and how dense they believe it should be, by studying the maps drawn during the workshop.

Bandit Locks Up Steakhouse Employees, Takes $3,000

A heavyset bandit locked several employees in a cold storage room and fled with some $3,000 from the Sizzler steakhouse in the Serramonte region of Daly City Monday.

Daly City police said an employee, Raul Agar, 32, of San Mateo, also was robbed of personal belongings by a man armed with an automatic pistol.

The robber walked into the steakhouse at 9:45 a.m. as employees prepared for the 11:30 a.m. opening. He was described as white, in his late-30s, 5 feet 8, weighing 50 pounds, with dark hair and a moustache and wearing a blue parka and light-colored trousers.

The employees freed themselves about a half-hour later and called the authorities.

Pulled From Burning Car

The heroic efforts of a San Bruno police officer last week may have saved th life of a San Bruno man.

Officer Grant Webb pulled James Nelson Tague from a burning vehicle behind the Mesa bar on San Mateo Avenue at about 3 a.m. Friday.

Tague apparently was sleeping in his 1969 Chevrolet which somehow caught on fire. When police arrived, the vehicle was totally engulfed in flames.

Tague, however, told police he did not need medical attention. He then walked home.

Mrs. Paige, a long-time foe of the transfer station development, told the commission the site is geologically unstable and that Daly City has not set aside the necessary funds to develop an adjacent Coastside park.

Fleming said the city's response to the park issue was to emphasize that $100,000 has been budgeted in the 1977-78 capital outlay fund to develop the park roadway, overlook parking area and landscaping.

Mrs. Tatarian, the other opponent of the development, was not present at the Monday hearing.

Impact Concerns Cities

By TERRY DAVENPORT

Pacifica and San Bruno officials are eyeing a proposed 3,500-unit development in Pacifica with more than the usual interest.

They believe the massive housing project on Pacifica's largest parcel of undeveloped land will have profound effects on their cities.

Called Sweeney Ridge, the development will house an estimated 8,250 persons in garden condominiums, townhouses and patio homes as early as 1980.

The developer, West Aspen Co., a subsidiary of Texas International, estimates prices for the units will start at about $65,000 (in 1977 dollars). West Aspen acquired the land in 1969.

The project encompasses 1,906 acres, stretching from the Mormon church at the intersection of Sharp Park Road and College Drive, south along the highest ridgeline behind the Vallemar district and over toward the back end of Park Pacifica. It abuts San Bruno's western limits.

"The development, as proposed, undeniably would have a major impact on the city. What needs to be determined now is whether that impact would be positive, negative or a mixture," commented Donald Weidner, city manager of Pacifica.

The Pacifica City Council currently is considering the developer's request for a special study session on the project with the Planning Commission in attendance.

San Bruno also is worried about Sweeney Ridge. This week the City Council designated representatives from the council, the Planning Commission and the director of Building and Planning to keep up with progress on the project.

City Manager Gerald Minford said the city particularly is concerned about the effects the project will have on traffic patterns, drainage and sewage.

John Buss of HKS Associates, the company doing planning on the project, said he believes Sweeney Ridge will be of great financial benefit to Pacifica.

He pointed out that it will add some 995 students to local schools, which are suffering from declining enrollment.

In addition, Buss figures the project will bring Pacifica $1.45 million in revenues.

Buss said the assessed valuation of the property will be $50 million, meaning that residents will pay $5.5 million in property taxes, based on the current tax rate. Of that amount, Pacifica will receive $902,000.

Since property taxes account for 62 percent of the city's total revenues, Buss thinks residents of the development will be paying the balance of the $1.45 million in other ways, such as through the sales tax.

Buss said he has no qualms about the additional people traveling Pacifica's roads. He said the developer plans to put $12.5 million into new streets within the project so that residents won't clog other roads.

West Aspen also intends to build a shopping center in the area, primarily to serve residents.

"The idea is to capture as much of the sales tax in Pacifica as possible," Buss explained.

worked quite well and was serving 26 youngsters before it was closed.

The Jefferson Union High School District now has a school program under the direction of a probation department officer.

However, Mrs. Powell said taxpayers are paying for the same staff with the same size budget as was used for the day care facility on Mission Street, only now fewer children are served, she explained.

"The only way a parent can be relieved of responsibility is if the child gets married or when the child reaches 18," Jensen responded.

However, once a court assumes custody of a child, the parent relinquishes responsibility, he added.

Daly City Mayor Al Teglia said the city fought hard for the day care program on Mission Street.

"I feel responsible for your children because I live in your community. What they do affects me too," Teglia said.

He suggested parents join together and work towards a change in the law, if they believe it is inadequate.

"Contact your city council members, your school board members, your legislators," Teglia said.

When asked what could be done to avoid problems some of the parents at the meeting are having with their youngsters, Jensen said, "Get control when your kids are young; don't wait to gain control until they are into their teens."

SSF Paramedic Program Endangered?

Council Fears County Takeover

By BILL HURSCHMANN

South San Francisco city councilmen last Wednesday night publicly disclosed their fears that the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors is attempting to force the city to end its paramedic service.

"This has the earmark of getting us to do away with our own paramedics in favor of Medevac (the county-operated paramedic system)," said Councilman Richard Battaglia.

Councilmen believe the county's impending decision to change base hospital designations ultimately will lead to the downfall of the city's paramedic service, the only one like it in the county.

At present, Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco serves as a base hospital for the city's paramedic units. That means paramedics receive training from personnel at that hospital and are radio-dispatched and controlled out of Kaiser.

Next Tuesday afternoon, however, county supervisors will be asked by a blue-ribbon panel they appointed to change the base hospital from Kaiser to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

If supervisors opt for the designation change, South San Francisco officials have no choice but to go along with it. Any paramedic operation in the state, whether city or county or private, is governed by the county.

Councilmen see little immediate change in the types of paramedic services residents can expect to receive after the change in base hospitals.

The key, as far as South San Francisco is concerned, is that paramedics will have to continue their clinical training during off-hours at Mary's Help. Now, paramedics can train at Kaiser while on duty and, if necessary, immediately break from training to handle an emergency situation in South San Francisco.

However, travel time from Mary's Help in Daly City to South San Francisco for an emergency call would be too great to afford the risk of on-duty training in Daly City, it was pointed out.

Retiring Fire Chief Lawrence Toellner told the council that presently the city's paramedics "are operating as one unit, with Kaiser as a base. My concern, when we switch over, is whether we will lose the efficiency and effectiveness that we have had now for a period of time."

Toellner also said he is uncertain how paramedics will react to having to undergo training during their off-duty time.

"Training on the off-time will be a drag to our people," the chief said.

This will increase paramedic cost, as personnel will have to be paid overtime for training, said City Manager C. Walter Birkelo.

"The county had committed itself not to step into our paramedic operation," Birkelo said. "Perhaps the county could show good faith and pick up our extra training costs."

The council, however, was not as certain that the county has any desire at all to show "good faith."

"A change in the base hospital, and our program is finished," said Councilman Leo Padreddii. "It's the first step to the financial demise of our paramedic service," added Battaglia.

"I think we should tell the county that whether they shift the base hospital or not, we're not going to go for it," said Councilman William Borba. Both Borba and Councilman Terry Mirri will appear before supervisors next Tuesday to appeal "in the strongest language," said Mirri.

The city's paramedic service began on March 18, 1975, after two years of study.

South San Francisco residents must continue to pay for the countywide Medevac service on top of their own city paramedic team.

SSF Councilman Demands Federal Fund Accountability

South San Francisco City Councilman William Borba last Wednesday night demanded more accountability from agencies receiving funds from the city through federal Housing and Community Development Act monies.

Borba's strong comments came while the council was considering a downtown revitalization program, to be funded with HCDA monies, and the HCDA revised budget.

He was critical particularly of the Neighborhood Services Center, formerly the Informational and Referral Center, a service agency.

"Monies in the past have not been properly spent," Borba charged. "If we have no accountability, we should freeze these funds. I want an accounting of the monies spent during the past two years."

The council approved the revised budget, except for the Neighborhood Services Center allocation, pending further study.

As approved, the revised budget includes a $200,000 allocation for rehabilitation loans for fixed and low income property owners; a $32,000 allocation to begin a downtown revitalization study; and construction of Peck's Lot Park and the Cypress and Pine Park.

The downtown revitalization program will study the availability of low and moderate income housing for downtown residents; a study of the market potential of the downtown commercial area; an analysis of adjacent industrial areas; a graphic study of Grand Avenue; and a parking and circulation study.

The council also rejected all bids for the redevelopment of Peck's Lot play area. About $60,000 is available for the project, from HCDA funds. The lowest bid submitted was $84,000.

Parks and Recreation Department Director Lyle Norton told the council he will be back before them by Dec. 1 with revised plans, possibly doing away with expensive mosaics planned for the park area, to get the project costs down to $60,000.

Councilman Borba, on a tour of various parks in the city, including Peck's Lot and Pine Avenue, said the condition of the fields in some areas in so bad that "someone might get hurt." He said sprinkler heads are exposed, fences gone, broken glass exists as well as cracks in the sidewalk.

Norton said his staff will look into the situation and remedy it if a danger exists. The director added that the department has been faced with a lack of supervisory personnel, adding to the neglect of park maintenance.

"But we're attempting to remedy that," he said.

In other matters, the council:

- Adopted a development study plan for shoreline area adjacent to the bay, the sewage treatment plant and Belle Air Island. Also authorized not more than $10,000 be spent on the project, which eventually will fill some areas to realize three more buildable acres in South San Francisco.
- Rejected the planning commission's denial of Al Firenze's request to keep decorative silhouettes on the side of his building, Al's Shooters Supply, 1001 Airport Blvd.

Pay Raise Angers LSUSD Employees

Classified employees in the Laguna Salada Union School District charged the board of trustees with an unfair labor practice Thursday night when the board voted to give them a 3 percent salary increase, retroactive to July 1.

Representing the employees' union, California School Employees Association Chapter 128, Harry Shelly said the group originally sought a 6.4 percent salary increase and voted not to accept less than a 5.4 percent hike.

The 170 members of the chapter are secretaries, bus drivers, custodians, maintenance workers, clerks, cafeteria personnel and teachers' aides.

War Vet Tax Bill Claims Due Dec. 1

California veterans who qualify through wartime military service for an allowance on their property tax bills should file their claims by Dec. 1, according to County Assessor Jack Estes.

The same deadline applies to claims filed by fully disabled veterans, whose eligibility is based on more liberalized conditions, Estes said.

Wartime military service is defined as World Wars I and II, Korea and Vietnam as prescribed by the governor's office, the Assessor said.

However, veterans who already have filed for homeowner's exemption on their property will not qualify for the additional exemption on their property.

Property owners desiring more information are invited to contact the exemption department of the assessor's office in Redwood City by phoning 364-5600, ext. 4193.

Laguna Salada Eyes Test Scores

Officials in the Laguna Salada Union School District had mixed reactions to state test results recently published for students in the district.

Like other California pupils, Laguna Salada's second and third graders were tested in reading, while sixth graders were tested in four subjects.

Second graders placed in the 77th state percentile rank, while third graders placed in the 75th rank. Sixth graders scored in the 52nd (reading), 55th (written expression), 62nd (spelling) and 47th (mathematics).

Assistant Superintendent Marv Morganti told the board this week that the district is pleased with the results of the second and third graders but has "some apprehension" about the sixth graders' scores.

"Our only consolation is that we are following state trends. All sixth grade scores were down this year," he noted.

Compared to other districts in San Mateo County, Morganti said Laguna Salada can hold its head high.

The board agreed to discuss the test results in depth at a special study session on Jan. 12.

There was a long discussion about whether the board should accept $85,000 to hire up to eight school library employees and pay for equipment under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act.

The board voted, 5-0, to accept the CETA money.

Trustees were alarmed by a proposal outlined by planner Carl Kirker for selling the Fairmont and Edgemar school sites.

As Kirker detailed steps for marketing the property that call for the district to pay $98,000 in early 1978, board members said they were surprised that the district was being asked for money "up front."

They said they believed Kirker originally had proposed that sale of dirt quarried from the land would pay for all the expenses. Kirker explained that he thought the project would more than pay for itself.

project would more than pay for itself.

The board asked its staff to look into the matter in detail.

U.S. Steel Yard Decision Scheduled

San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development commissioners are to decide Dec. 1 whether United States Steel Corp. should be allowed to make improvements on its South San Francisco marine construction yard at 105 Oyster Point Blvd.

A final public hearing on the proposal was held in San Francisco Thursday, with one Sierra Club spokesman expressing concern about Bay fill and another labor representative lauding the proposal.

U.S. Steel is asking for permission to clear, fill and grade 1.7 acres of shoreline band area, dredge about 250,000 cubic yards of sediment, place about 7,000 square feet of earth and rock fill in the Bay and construct two pile-supported docks covering about 11,600 square feet.

The project will improve the plant yard, adjacent ship channel and launching basin to allow for assembling and shipping of large offshore drill jackets, platforms and other large and heavy structures.

No Feeling of Belonging

Nancy Stancill

I live at the tip of one county and drive every day to work at the end of another county.

My office is in one city, my work in a second city and my home is in yet a third location.

It's very difficult to feel a sense of belonging anywhere with such a fragmented lifestyle.

Thousands of people in the Bay Area do it, but it seems to be a kind of living that breeds a sense of loneliness.

I think about it often as I prepare for another stretch of driving down the freeway. It's difficult to decide which is worse — a packed freeway in the morning or an empty superhighway late at night. They seem equally depressing.

For many, the fast pace of living here is made more bearable by neighborhood ties.

The neighborhood — whether it be humble row houses or sweeping, treelined streets — seems very important to people.

It offers a sense of connectedness that is missed by many people in dreary, daily rounds of commuting.

I don't think I realized how essential a neighborhood can be to people until I moved to the Peninsula.

Through necessity, I live in a large apartment complex located close to a freeway.

During the year my husband and I have lived there, we've seen neighbors on both sides move in and out two or three times.

It's discouraging because when neighbors come and go so often it takes away the desire to make friends. Why bother? They won't stay long.

So contact with neighbors often becomes a series of polite, mutual requests to cut the stereo down.

When I was growing up I lived in a small town where everyone knew everybody.

My parents moved when I was in college, but I still felt welcomed when I came home to their new neighborhood to visit.

The last time I was there was on my wedding day. The wedding was small and the party returned to the house to celebrate. As everyone trooped to the front lawn for picture-taking, most of the neighbors came out to smile and wave indulgently.

It's a lovelyk image that remains in my mind.

I look now at neighborhood associations such as the Original Daly City Protective Association, the Serramonte Homeowners and the various Broadmoor groups.

They get involved in political battles large and small. Sometimes the fights are nasty, or petty, or border on the ridiculous.

But I respect the feeling behind whatever action they take.

They care about their neighborhood.

It's something I think about on the long, lonely drives home n the freeway.

William Halsey can define 561,811 words. During 30 years as an editor and publisher of dictionaries, he has had a hand in defining nearly every English word. Is it any wonder, therefore, that he was chosen to edit Macmillan's "Dictionary for Children," now in its second edition. (Macmillan, 1977. $10.95)

Ah! Here is a dictionary with colored illustrations appearing on every page. Each illustration is skillfully produced to show minute details and exact coloring. The picture of a petunia, for example, is truly lavender; that of the trout shows that fish's smallest spots and lines. By showing a girl with her cheeks puffed out and her eyes nearly closed as she plays the tuba, the illustration adds a dimension of understanding not found in the definition.

Thirty thousand of William Darrach Halsey's words are found in Macmillan's 1977 edition of the "Dictionary for Children," with each word being defined tersely but adequately. For each word the spelling, punctuation and part of speech is given.

This book would make an excellent Christmas present for the student in your family. As the Christian Science Monitor wrote, "Macmillan's "Dictionary for Children" is as clear as a diamond, pretty as a crocus, a real dictionary for real children." It has been recommended by Booklist and Saturday Review. The San Francisco Chronicle called it "the answer to many a parent's prayer."

A dictionary makes a fine present for every home. As Husted Bell wrote, "The voice of God dwells in the language of a people." A dictionary is a bridge that spans generation gaps and connects one era to another. "Words," said Justice Holmes, "are the skin of living thoughts and may very greatly in color and content according to the circumstances and time in which they are used."

As an editor, William D. Halsey has a passion for words. When asked what single book would you take if you were forced to spend the rest of your life on a desert island, he replied, "the Oxford English Dictionary" which he described as a "sometimes completely loony masterpiece."

He has made his dictionary a thoroughly delightful, useful tool for America's children.

"Words are the soul's ambassadors, who go abroad upon errands to and fro." — James Howell.

2 Decades of Marriage

"Two Decades With One Woman" is the theme of the sermon to be given by Rev. David R. Swope, Sunday at the Daly City United Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Ave.

The 10 a.m. worship service sermon will reflect on the joys and frustrations of marriage. Rev. and Mrs. Swope were married Nov. 27, 1957 at First UMC, Sacramento.

Five new Advent banners designed and made by Judy Swope, a student at the San Francisco Academy of Art, will be shown as the beginning of the Christian year is observed. The Advent wreath candle will be lighted.

Following the worship service a "stone soup meal", which includes Thanksgiving turkey bones, will be served. Janet Thompson is in charge of general arrangements.

Christian Science Lecture

Christian Science lecturer George Louis Aghamalian will discuss how the power of Christ eliminates all false gods or forces that seem to control one's life. His lecture, "Diana or Christ?," deals with numerous gods, like the Roman goddess Diana, that have been worshipped and feared throughout history. These false gods have been approached through fear of the same evils that appear dominant today — violence, disease, poverty, discouragement, to name a few.

Aghamalian will speak at Skyline College theater Dec. 4, at 3 p.m. All are welcome to this free lecture sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Pacifica. Child care will be provided.

Dancers Circle

The Dancers Circle, under the direction of Choreographer Genia Simpson, will present "Miss Criolla", an Argentine Folk Mass by Ariel Ramirez, at St. Andrew's Catholic Church Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m. The eight dancers, who compose the Dancers Circle, bring a new dimension to the worship service as they move through the congregation in the colorful skirts and shawls of the Argentine culture. This will be the third consecutive year that this event has been held at St. Andrew's because there has been such an enthusiastic response from the audience. No addition fee is charged. St. Andrew's is at 1571 Southgate Avenue, Daly City. For further information, call St. Andrew's office between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on weekdays, 756-3223.

NELL NORTON

Good morning and Happy Thanksgiving, good cooks.

I know you are too busy to stop and consider some new recipes, so just set these ideas aside and come back to them next week when you are trying to think of something different for dinner.

RIO GRANDE SAUSAGE CHILI

2 pounds fresh pork sausage
1 teaspoon salt
2 cans (15 ounces each) kidney beans
1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn with peppers
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1 cup water
1 medium-sized onion, chopped
2 teaspoons chili powder
½ cup crushed tortilla chips

Separate the two pounds pork sausage in small pieces and brown in Dutch oven. Pour off drippings and stir in one teaspoon salt. Add the two cans kidney beans, one can corn, one can each tomato sauce and tomato paste, one cup water, two teaspoons chili powder. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and cook slowly for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Sprinkle crushed tortilla chips over top before serving. 6 to 8 servings.

APPLESAUCE DATE CAKE

2 cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon each allspice and nutmeg
¼ teaspoon each cloves and salt
2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup margarine
2 cups hot (not boiling) applesauce
1 cup chopped dates
¾ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Grease well and flour a 9-inch square baking pan. Into large bowl, sift the two cups flour, two teaspoons soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, half teaspoon each allspice and nutmeg and fourth teaspoon each cloves and salt. Add the two eggs, one cup brown sugar, half cup margarine and 1 cup of the applesauce. On low speed with electric mixer, beat just until ingredients are combined. Raise speed to medium and beat two minutes longer, scraping down side of bowl. Add remaining applesauce along with one cup dates and three-fourths cup nuts. Beat one minute. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake 50 minutes or until tester comes out clean. Let cool in pan 10 minutes. Frost.

FROSTING

1 3-ounce package softened cream cheese
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 Tablespoon margarine
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

In small bowl, combine cream cheese, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vanilla. Beat until smooth and fluffy. Continue beating and gradually add the two cups confectioner' sugar. Beat till smooth and fluffy. Spread on cake.

How the Public Becomes Discouraged

It has been said of local governments that they are the most responsive level of elected officials the public will come in contact with one a year by year basis.

However, many public agencies by actions which may or may not be pre meditated are discouraging public participation in meetings and hearings.

Case in point (but certainly not the only example of a lack of consideration on the part of elected officials): the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The JESD trustees set aside a section of each agenda for comment from the audiences, as they should. However, that alloted time is at the end of its regular agenda, and that is blatantly wrong.

At a regular board meeting Nov. 9, public hearings were convened at 7:30 p.m., the regular meeting begun at 8. After trustees had plowed through a lengthy agenda, Board President Al Schwarzbach sought comments from fellow board members, which traditionally occurs just before comments from the audience.

Sensing, rather belatedly, that a woman in the audience had asked the board members for time to discuss a matter with them, Schwarzback delayed comments from all board members until the woman could be heard.

She had sat patiently, sometimes even smiling, through much of 4½ hours of discussion and debate before she had a chance to speak just past midnight. And she spoke for perhaps 10 minutes.

Surely, government agencies like Jefferson Elementary could place earlier on their agendas the time alloted for citizens to speak. It's a fact that citizens are not interested in all items considered by school boards and city councils and sewer districts. If a citizen wants to sit through hours of oftenboring discussion, they'll discover that fewer taxpayers will bother to watch "government in action." And, considering how few attend those meetings now, it would be a sorry state of affairs.

Executive sessions speak on a general topic not covered on the regular agenda, then he or she should be able to speak at the beginning of the meeting. If a citizen wants to speak on a specific agenda item, then, of course, he must wait until that item pops up in the normal transgression of the agenda.

If government agencies persist in making citizens are held behind closed doors — and done so legally. In those sessions, elected officials generally discuss the appointment, employment or dismissal of an employee or hear complaints or charges brought against an employee. These discussions may be held in private, under the provisions of the Local Government Open Meeting Law (the Brown Act).

Our complaint is not with the executive sessions, but with the timing.

Elected officials, all too often (although the trend gradually is changing) in the middle of a public meeting or even at the outset of such a session, will adjourn into executive session, leaving the public to twiddle its collective thumbs.

Such action does not take the public interest into consideration. After all, isn't that the singular task of elected officials?

All executive sessions, except in extreme circumstances, should be held at the conclusion of public meetings, or on nights or afternoons, separate from public sessions.

If a citizen attends a meeting, he doesn't want to be left cooling his heels for an indeterminate amount of time while his elected officials discuss matters in executive session.

If mid-meeting breaks continue, the trend of fewer people not bothering to attend meetings and watching how their money is being spent will continue.

Elected officials are just that — elected. And it's time that they take the public interests into account in all circumstances, and not merely the ones that suit them best.

Pappy Waldorf has retired from football and Cal isn't going to make the Rose Bowl, so if the times are unpleasant as they are, the best thing to do is to remember them as they were; and what better segue to a little reminiscence, a little nostalgia about one of Cal's and Waldorf's greatest years — 1948.

That was the season that Cal, led by Jackie Jensen and Jim Turner and Rod Franz and Jack Swaner and Jon Baker and Truck Cullom and Bob Celeri and Paul Keckley and Charley Sarver and a lot of other old boyhood heroes, went undefeated and untied (the first Cal team to do that in 26 years), and lost a controversial heartbreaker to Northwestern in the Rose Bowl.

IT'S HARD to believe that Oregon was ever a power in the old Pacific Coast Conference, but they were installed with Cal as co-favorites that year in the "Run for the Roses," and that's exactly how they ended up — in a tie with Cal for the conference championship. Oregon, however, had lost one non-conference game, a 14-0 decision t Michigan, which was top collegiate team in the country that year. Cal was thus, in a small storm of controversy, mainly from up North, voted as the conference representative to the Rose Bowl.

Cal had almost, however, blown it all to the underdog Stanford in the Big Game, barely eking out a 7-6 victory, and then only because of the unusual heroics of Jensen.

Cal had started that Big Game as though they were going to put the Indians to rout, driving 51 yards in 11 plays the first time they layed hands on the ball; a march culminated on a smash over tackle by Swaner, and what turned out to be the crucial extra point kick by Cullom. That was to be all she wrote for the Cal offense that day.

STANFORD RECOVERED three fumbles and controled the ball the rest of the afternoon. Only Cal's defense kept them in the game, as they stopped the Indians on their eight-yard line in the first quarter and on the 28 in the second quarter. Then, in the third quarter, Stanford drove to the Cal three and scored when quarterback Tom Shaw whipped a jump pass to end Ken Rose. Aubrey Devine came in for the placement kick, but, ironically, Cullom blocked the attempt.

If any one individual, though, had kept Cal in the game, it had been Jensen. Once, deep in his own territory, he booted a 77-yard punt. Another time, again deep in Cal territory, Jensen pulled off what Waldorf was later to call, "the greatest individual single performance I have ever witnessed in a football game." It was fourth down and Cal needed 31 yards for a first down. Back to punt, Jensen realized instantly that the Stanford line was going in for the block and realized they probably would get it, so he dove under two would-be blockers and went straight up the middle for a 32-yard gain and a first down, taking Cal out of trouble.

THE ROSE BOWL went the other way for Cal. Northwestern, which had lost only to the great Michigan team (28-0) and the almost equally great Notre Dame (12-7), was installed a six-point favorite over Cal despite the fact that Cal had an edge in the point spread against two common opponents, UCLA and Wisconsin.

That six points looked awfully good for bettors when, five minutes into the game, Northwestern halfback Frank Aschenbrenner broke loose for a 73-yard touchdown run, which set a new Rose Bowl record.

Jensen, however, answered Aschenbrenner on the next Cal play from scrimmage with a 67-yard TD run of his own!

CAL WENT into the locker room at half-time behind 13-7 on the basis of one of the most controversial calls in Rose Bowl history.

Late in the second quarter, the Wildcats had driven downfield to the Cal 14, when fullback Art Murakowski (whom mid-westerners were booming as THE All-American fullback in opposition to Jensen), broke through guard and smashed his way to the one-yard line. On the next play, Murakowski powered his way over the left side of the Cal line. When he hit the end-zone, however, he apparently didn't have the ball, having fumbled. Officials, though, called the run a TD, ruling that Murakowski had lost the ball after he crossed the goal line. Photographs later indicated that he had lost the ball before he reached the goal line. In fact, Cal defensive back Will Lotter claimed that he had recovered the fumble on about the one-yard line. Later, another photograph showed that the play should have been called back, anyway, because two Northwestern players were blatantly holding.

CAL MAY have really lost, however, on Jensen's first play just after the second half began. A leg cramp took him out of the rest of the game. Miraculously, Fran Brunk, his replacement, led Cal on a subsequent downfield drive that was culminated on a fourth and goal situation by a Swaner TD run. When Cullom kicked the conversion, Cal was ahead, 14-13.

With just under three minutes to play, Northwestern halfback Ed Tunnicliff took a direct pass from center in the Wildcat single-wing formation and went all the way on a 43-yard run.

Waldorf installed his erratic but dangerous throwing quarterback Bob Celeri, and just seconds before the final gun he almost pulled it out with a 55-yard toss to little half-back Charley Sarver, who was yards behind the Northwestern secondary. But one of the Northwestern safeties made a tremendous, desperation leap and intercepted, and that was 1948 for Cal.

BUT WHAT a season it had been. Jensen, Franz and Turner made All-American. Jensen ranked third nationally in rushing, 12th in total offense. Keckley ranked sixth nationally in interceptions; Swaner was 12th in scoring; Cullom sixth in conversions; and Cal had ranked sixth in rushing offense and ninth in total offense, rushing the defense and interception runbacks, and was ranked the fourth-best team in the nation during an era when the Pacific Coast was almost always overlooked in the wire service rankings.

LOCAL NOTES:

Keith Hernandez, the former Terra Nova and Capuchino kid now playing first base for the Cardinals, led St. Louis, according to recently released stats, in clutch-hitting. He hit at a .464 clip with men in scoring position . . . Bob McClure, the Milwaukee southpaw who starred at Terra Nova, had one of the Brewer pitching staff's two winning records (he was 2-1), the staff's best and only sub-3.00 E.R.A. (2.54), pitched in the most games (68), and had the second most saves (6) . . . And yet another former Terra Novan, shortstop Mike Busky, broke into a big league lineup at the tag-end of the season. He couldn't have broken in with much more class than with the Phillies (to whom he had been traded from the White Sox last winter). Mike went two-for-seven, hit a triple, drove in a run, scored one.

JOHN MORENO — still another former Terra Nova Tiger — represented San Francisco State at the National Division II cross country meet after finishing second in the Far Western Conference finals. It was the first time the Gators have ever sent a runner to the national finals.

Celso Alhambra just completed his season as a Jefferson High lightweight basketball player, averaging 7 points, 6 rebounds and 4 blocked shots a game. Solid but not remarkable figures, unless you know that Alhambra plays with a permanent limp — a left-over from a childhood bout with polio.

HMB Cougars Gain Title Tie

Fate was kind to Half Moon Bay football coach Jerry Murphy Friday afternoon. It didn't make him go through another heartstopping, last-second victory. Murphy's charges pounded visiting Westmoor 28-0 to earn a North Peninsula League co-championship.

Half Moon Bay played too well this time for there to be any late-game heroics. The Cougars played nearly error-free ball on offense, and their defense was impenetrable.

The co-title is HMB's first since a co-championship with Westmoor in 1972. The Cougars will now advance to Thursday's Central Coast Section playoffs by virtue of their win over co-titlist Terra Nova earlier in the season.

The Cougars figure to be in tough against West Catholic Athletic League champion St. Francis (8-1-1 overall). But then what else is new? HMB has been overcoming adversity all year long.

Injuries have been a persistent problem for the Cougars. At times they were hard-pressed to suit up 20 players. And, of course, MMB had an inordinate number of close games. Seven of their contests went down to the wire and the Cougars won every one of them.

Then there was last week's 27-0 defeat at the hands of Oceana. The Sharks outplayed HMB in every phase of the game to hand the Cougars their first loss of the season after eight consecutive wins.

Lesser teams wouldn't have held up against the type of pressure HMB faced week-in and week-out. But the Cougars have had that indescribable "something extra" working for them all year long and they weren't about to let Westmoor stand in the way of the school's first-ever CCS playoff berth.

HMB won the game on defense. The Cougar stopper unit limited Westmoor's wide-open attack to 62 total yards and set up three touchdowns by forcing Ram turnovers.

Westmoor's first miscue came just before the end of the half as Cougar linebacker Phil Pettingill recovered a Ram fumble on the Westmoor 31 yard line. Five plays later fullback Nick Moreno crashed over from the two to make it 6-0 at the half.

An interception and 15-yard return by defensive back Jim Edwards midway through the third quarter set up HMB's second score. The Cougars got the ball on the Ram 13 and QB Scott Mathews' seven-yard bootleg made it 14-0 (Mathews connected with John Galvin on the conversion).

HMB put the game away on the first play of the fourth quarter as Moreno broke loose through the left side of Westmoor's line (after a good block by tight end Dave Bradley) and raced 59 yards to paydirt.

Westmoor then fumbled the kickoff and the Cougars added some icing on the cake after a short drive as Galvin took a one-yard scoring toss from Mathews.

Moreno paced HMB's ofensive attack with 108 yards on 17 carries.

Murphy cited the loss to Oceana as a contributing factor to HMB's convincing win over Westmoor.

"Oceana gave us a good lesson," he said. "That was probably the best thing that happened to us all season."

Thursday's showdown with St. Francis (originally scheduled for South San Francisco's Clifford Field) may be switched to St. Francis at the request of Half Moon Bay (figure that one out).

HMB, which went 6-1 in the NPL, is now 9-1 overall.

Tigers in Playoffs

Two San Mateo County high school football teams were awarded at-large playoff berths by selection committees Sunday.

Terra Nova, which ended up as North Peninsula League co-champion with Half Moon Bay, got the Central Coast Section Region I at-large slot. The Tigers will play Mid-Peninsula League champ Hillsdale Saturday night at Burlingame field.

Woodside, which finished second in the South Peninsula Athletic League to unbeaten Carlmont, got the Region II spot by a 6-4 vote and will play another unbeaten, Wilcox, the Santa Clara Valley Athletic League champ.

Terra Nova (9-1) lost to HMB, so the Cougars got the NPL slot in the playoffs against St. Francis at South San Francisco's Clifford Field on Thanksgiving Day.

Terra Nova got the berth over St. Ignatius of the West Catholic Athletic League by a vote of 7-3. There were three major factors in Terra Nova's favor.

TN's record of 9-1 was better than SI's 7-3, and Terra Nova was a co-champ while SI was only 4-2 in the WCAL, though finishing second. Also, in TN's one loss (to HMB 23-17), the Tigers were on the one-yard line as the game ended.

Hillsdale and Terra Nova met in the preseason. The Tigers shut down the Knight offense and won 14-0.

There had been some question as to how fit the Tigers would be for the playoff, since Tiger quarterback Mike Diaz, the County's leading passer, was hurt in the regular season finale against South San Francisco last Friday night.

But reports over the weekend indicated that Diaz, who had seemed to suffer a back injury, had just sustained a deep bruise, and would probably be able to play against Hillsdale.

Jefferson High defeated visiting Serramonte 12-6 Friday in a season-ending battle of North Peninsula League second-division teams.

Jefferson took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter on fullback Charlie Banfield's 30-yard touchdown run.

But a pair of field goals by placekicker Fred Proano proved to be the difference, as Serramonte reached paydirt in the third period on quarterback Lou Tinsley's 22-yard run.

The Indians outgained Serramonte 258 to 161. Banfield led the assault with 19 carries for 147 yards.

SSF Grad Sparks Ohlone

FREMONT — Sparked by the defensive play of former South San Francisco High player Vic Arias, Ohlone College captured the Northern California small division community college football championship 21-0 over Siskiyous Friday night at Washington High.

Arias, who attended Utah State last year, transferred to Ohlone this year. He also grew some and is now 6-5, 250, and playing defensive tackle and punting and kicking field goals.

His fumble recovery early in the fourth quarter set up the second of three fourth period touchdowns which snowed under Siskiyous.

Warriors Win Title

South San Francisco High's sophomore football team clinched the North Peninsula League championship Thursday by defeating visiting Terra Nova 14-6. The Warriors finished 6-1 in league play.

SSF's touchdowns were scored by fullback Carl Montgomery on a 6-yard run and Wendel Rand on a 22-yard pass from Noel Wallace.

TN IS NPL Co-Titlist

Terra Nova High's football team earned a North Peninsula League co-championship and a possible at-large berth in the Central Coast Section regional playoffs by blanking visiting contender South San Francisco 14-0 Friday night.

But early in the second half Tiger quarterback Mike Diaz, the leading prep passer in San Mateo County, was injured on an option play and forced to leave the game.

He was helped off the field, and didn't seem seriously hurt. But about 15 minutes later an ambulance appeared, and Diaz was removed to Mary's Help Hospital, where X-rays were taken.

Diaz' back seemed to hurt him, but the early diagnosis at the field was a hip pointer.

The extent of Diaz' injury could have a bearing on whether or not Terra Nova gets that CCS at-large berth in a committee meeting Sunday.

Terra Nova had put itself in very good position for the at-large selection with a 9-1 overall record and that co-championship.

"If we don't get the at-large berth I'll be very surprised," commented Tiger coach Bob Lotti after a post-game ride on the shoulders of his team.

Terra Nova finished the NPL season at 6-1 to gain a share of the crown with Half Moon Bay. HMB automatically advances to the CCS playoffs because of an earlier 23-17 win over the Tigers. TN had also won a co-championship (with SSF) in 1975.

In spite of its many offensive weapons, TN beat the Warriors (who finished 7-3 overall) on defense. "People say we can't play defense, but we proved them wrong tonight," said Lotti.

Indeed. The stoppers, keyed by the efforts of linebacker Don Parrez, tackle Martin Hohe and end Todd Stamps, shut down Warrior back Dave Palmer. Palmer had been the County's leading rusher going into the game, but gained only 60 yards on 18 carries.

Diaz directed the Tigers on a 14-play, 59-yard second quarter march which ate up most of the period. Halfback Ed Gallagher capped the drive with a three-yard run.

South City drove to the Tiger 13-yard line on its ensuing possession, but that drive bogged down and TN quickly went 76 yards in four plays to score again right before the end of the half.

Terra Nova's fine wide receiver Mike Mooney caught two Diaz aerials for 71 yards on the drive, including a 31-yard TD reception with 45 seconds left.

Tight end Joe Belli replaced Diaz at quarterback for the remainder of the second half and did a commendable job.

The Tigers outgained SSF 303 to 152. Diaz carried the ball 10 times for 62 yards and completed three passes for 79 yards to lead Terra Nova's attack.

Sweeping Changes Seen In Mainline Service

Some sweeping changes in Peninsula Mainline bus service will become effective Dec. 12, General Manager John T. Mauro has told the San Mateo County Transit District Board of Directors.

Mauro had several other pieces of news for the board last Wednesday night.

• Thirty-four of the 74 new 40- and 47-passenger buses ordered last year are in service, with nine more being prepared.

• The first of 24 lift-equipped buses is to be shipped within the next two weeks. Mauro said he plans also to test two other new hydraulic lifts for helping handicapped persons aboard buses and letting them off.

• At last count, 1,552 of the 3,300 railroad commuters in this county had signed up for the new SamTrains Commute Club. Mauro said he hopes at least 3,000 will be signed up by Dec. 19, the day Southern Pacific normally begins sale of its monthly commute books.

• A new contract is being re-drafted and it is hoped SP will ratify it by late this month, so SamTrains can start business Jan. 1, Mauro said.

The plan calls for federal funding for a 30 percent subsidy to SP commuters, in effect cutting their train fares by 30 percent, in an effort to attract more riders to the ailing line. SP, claiming the service is losing money heavily, would like to drop the service.

• SamTrans will proceed with the SamTrains plan with or without Santa Clara County, which has stalled in acting on a subsidy plan of its own and is to reconsider on Nov. 28 its earlier rejection of such a plan, which called for a 20 percent subsidy.

• Mauro said he was on the witness stand Tuesday and Wednesday before the state Public Utilities Commission to argue against the SP request to end its Peninsula commuter service.

The San Mateo-Hayward bus route, designated Route 90E, will be a 50-minute run from First and B streets in San Mateo, south on El Camino Real to Hillsdale Boulevard and then east through Foster City to the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge, with stops along the way in Hayward. Service will be every half-hour during morning and evening commute hours and hourly during the day.

Schedules for the revised Mainline service should be available two weeks before Dec. 12, Mauro said. The revisions include 111 daily trips to and from San Francisco, more than twice as many as are made now.

BEST SELLERS

Adrienne Savetnick, Westlake Branch Librarian, and Esther Hough, Friends of the Daly City Library Rental Book Collection Chairman, compare notes on The Friends' innovative collection, which has been a success and is popular with patrons wishing to cut the tie it might take to secure the loan of a bestseller. No tax money has been spent on the collection, since it has been sponsored by The Friends. Rental fees are 35 cents for the first three days and 10 cents per day thereafter, Sundays and holidays excepted. All books in the rental collection are also in the free books which may be reserved.

Holiday Books Review

"Books for Holiday Giving" will be the theme of a review by Mrs. Frank W. Hosmer Jr., president of The Forum Club, for The Friends of the Daly City Library and their guests Dec. 1 at 10 a.m. in the community room of the Westlake Library.

Mrs. Emmett B. Tierney, Friends of the Daly City Library president, has invited the public to attend free of charge the review, which is scheduled as a community service.

Mrs. Hosmer, who has reviewed for The Friends a number of times in the past, has been for a long time literary chairman of the California Club of California. The late Mrs. Lilly Daly George, who died several years ago at the age of over 100 and was the daughter of John D. Daly, was a family friend.

Hospitality Chairman Eillen Kenny, aided by her committee, will be hostess at the coffee hour preceding the review.

At the event, Book Review Chairman Eileen Winter will accept reservations for the no-host luncheon honoring Mrs. Hosmer, to be at Lord Byron's, 4935 Junipero Serra Blvd., Colma.

Driver Is Thankful To the Lord

"The Lord must have been with me," said Sherry Baggiani, 24, of 1318 Rosita Road, Pacifica, as she sat hugging her one-year-old son next to her overturned car on Sharp Park Road Thursday afternoon.

The windows were shattered and the top was crushed, but the 24-year-old woman said she knew first aid and did not panic as she crawled out of the car with her son, Robert.

Mrs. Baggiani explained that she was driving down Sharp Park Raod in Pacifica at about 4:15 p.m. when a van cut her off, forcing her to the side of the road. She believes her son's life was saved by the safety chair in which he was strapped.

Pacifica police at the scene of the accident were unable to estimate the dollar amount of damage done to the car. "It's considerable," said one officer.

Homeowners Still Can File Exemptions

San Mateo County homeowners who missed the original deadline still can reduce their tax bills by filing a late claim for a homeowner's exemption, according to County Assessor Jack Estes.

Owners have until Dec. 1 to file a late claim for 80 percent of the basic $1750 exemption.

Eligible taxpayers include those owning and personally residing in (on March 1) a single family residence, condominium, duplex, co-op apartment or mobile home on their own land, Estes pointed out.

Since tax bills already have been mailed out, valid claims will be credited on second installment tax payments due April 10, 1978.

County to Fill Citizen Posts

Fourteen vacant seats on five advisory citizen groups are scheduled to be filled during December and January, and all interested citizens are being urged to apply by John M. Ward, chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

Deadline for two new public member spots on the Human Services Coordinating Council is Nov. 30. Applications are available at the supervisors' office, Hall of Justice, Redwood City, or by calling 364-5600, ext. 4567.

Applicants sought for the coordinating council should be generally familiar with planning and funding for social services in San Mateo County and will be serving to provide the client point of view.

Those appointed should have time to participate in daytime meetings on weekdays and be available to serve on various committees as well, Ward said.

Applications will be open until Dec. 15 for a four-year term on the Civil Service Commission, representing the 5th Supervisorial district.

This assignment pays $50 per meeting, and the duties of the commissioner include hearing appeals to dismissals, demotions and suspensions of county employees.

The commission also reviews requests for extension of eligible lists and assigns job classifications to bargaining units.

A public member is being sought for a three-year term for the Developmental Disabilities Board, a 15-member body created by state law to provide recommendations and an annual spending plan for people with disabilities residing in a five-county area.

Under the law, service providers may not serve as members of the governing board.

Applicants are being sought for three seats on the Fair Oaks Community center advisory board to fill the categories of youth, senior and public representative.

Operating under a joint-powers agreement between the county and Redwood City, the advisory board consists of 13 members who are residents of the Fair Oaks community who advise the center director on rules, use and activities at the center.

Deadline for submission of applications for these three vacant seats is December 30.

Finally, the supervisors last week created a new Historic Resources Advisory board, and applications are open for seven seats.

Applicants sought include two members at large, an archaeologist, architect, archivist, historian and a representative of the County Historical association.

The group will be on call six or eight times a year to assist in the preservation of the county's heritage through identification and interpretation of historic resources here, according to Planning Director Don Woolfe.

The new board will replace the present Historic Sites advisory committee, and committee members have been encouraged to apply.

By JULIE SMITH
Publicity Commissioner

Serramonte has had quite a few rallies these past nine weeks. Daria Wiggins, commissioner of rallies and entertainment, has developed a rally committee to help her present good entertainment and to add spirit to the rallies.

The members of the rally committee are: Ginger Alip, Chantay Allmond, Mylene Biete, Yolanda Bradshaw, Julie Copeland, Daphne Jackson, Flo Matsu, Sandra Nalls, Rachelle Pierson, Roshanne Pierson, Daria Wigging and Tammy Wilson.

Serramonte's girls' volleyball team just finished a great season. The varsity did really well and surprised many teams with wins. The junior varsity had a tough season with many young players, but gave other teams a run for their wins.

The varsity team is coached by Pam Reagan, who has coached years in the past. The junior varsity is coached by Sheila Brush. This is Coach Brush's first year with volleyball.

Managers for both teams are Anita Alcala and Carol Tamblin.

Attention everyone! The senior class now is selling Serramonte sweaters during 4th and 5th periods at the cashier's office window. The price is $20, slightly more for block or year. If ordered now, they will be delivered after Christmas. Support the senior class, get your sweaters now. A sample is on display in the office.

Happy Birthday, Pacifica!

Saturday, the City of Pacifica celebrated its 20th anniversary with a sit-down dinner, a fancy ball and a sigh of relief, for the city has had its share of growing pains.

It seems like only yesterday that the string of coastal towns banded together to become an incorporated city. Much of Pacifica's rural atmosphere still is preserved proudly in neighborhoods such as Vallemar and Pedro Point.

The area's growth dates from 1769, when Don Gaspar De Portola and his scurvy-suffering followers straggled up Sweeney Ridge and first glimpsed San Francisco Bay.

Pacifica's changing character through the years can best be seen in some of her historical landmarks, three of which are shown here. Our thanks to City Historian Dema Savage for telling us Pacifica's story.

—Terry Davenport

EVOCATIVE OF PAST

Top right: Pacifica's Little Brown Church was built in 1907-08, the same year mail service first came to the area. Located at 1850 Francisco Blvd., the church today looks very much as it did in 1908, when this picture was taken. The community was then called 'Salada Beach.' Left: Erected in 1906, the Anderson store, 220 Paloma Ave., originally was called 'Salada Mercantile.' Mathias Anderson, a new arrival from Norway, built the store. His daughter, Lorraine Cohen, who now manages it, recalls that shortly after Prohibition its specialty became liquor. Mrs. Cohen said she believes the store is the oldest structure in town. Right: Vallemar station, now a restaurant, once was another stop for the Ocean Shore Railroad. It is located on Highway 1.

COMMENDED SERVICE

On behalf of the Daly City Police Dept., Chief David A. Hansen, right, presents a certificate of appreciation to Martin Carlson, left, manager of American savings and Loan Association's Westlake office, 5 Southgate Ave., and Sally Richardson, loan processor at American's San Bruno office, 1200 El Camino Real. On Oct. 7, while serving as a savings trainer at American's Westlake office, Richardson suspected a grand theft-fraud case in progress and notified Carlson, who contacted police. The certificate cited the excellent teamwork of Carlson and Richardson in preventing the loss of a senior citizen's life savings.

'Tis the Sales Season

Lovanne Heath

Only four more days left to purchase a 1978 Girl Scout Calendar!

Mrs. Roz Morino, publicity chairman for the local scouting community, reports that the lively brown and buff colored appointment calendars are proving to be popular items and many people are purchasing them for holiday giving as well as for keeping.

If you haven't as yet purchased a calendar speak to any Girl Scout or Brownie, they will be happy to supply you with one for only $1.

Nov. 30 will be the final day to make reservations for the Mary's Help Hospital Guild's annual Christmas cocktail party.

Mrs. Carlyle D. Hillsman or Mrs. C. J. Dunow are taking calls for reservations. Tickets are $4 per person. Checks should be made payable to the hospital guild.

This year the party will be in the Country Club at the Franciscan Mobile Park, 700 Hoffman Dr., Daly City. The party will begin at 6:30 p.m. and continue until 9:30 p.m. Dancing will be to the music by "Vince."

With Christmas only a month away it is the season for bazaars and boutiques.

Word is out that the ladies of the Arts and Crafts Circle at St. Andrew's have outdone themselves this year in preparations for an exciting holiday sale.

Saturday, Dec. 3 is the date selected by the co-chairman of the circle, Mrs. Sue Mannina and Mrs. Marie Kanon, for the sale of beautifully crafted, handmade ceramic and decoupage items, hairpin lace scarves, needlepoint cushions and holiday decorations.

The sale will begin Saturday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. and close for the day at 6 p.m. On Sunday the sale will begin at 8:20 a.m. and conclude at 2:30 p.m., in the St. Andrew's Church and Sullivan at Southgate in Daly City.

Proceeds from the sale are pledged to the St. Andrew's Education fund.

Winter Fantasy Christmas Boutique is the title selected for the annual gift sale sponsored by the Riordan Guild.

Mrs. Nelcyna Finney is accepting reservations for the boutique preview which will be Saturday, Dec. 3 from 7 to 9 p.m. in Chaminade Hall on the Riordan campus.

Champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served along with punch. Tickets cost $2 per person.

On Sunday, Dec. 4 the boutique will open at noon and close at 5 p.m. There will be snacks and light luncheon available. Chairman of the event is Mrs. Peggy Dovichi and the co-chairman is Mrs. Ann O'Sullivan. Mrs. Paul Drews is in charge of publicity.

The Country Boutique and Sweet Shoppe is the name of this year's boutique and cookie and candy sale at Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church.

Mrs. James McKee is in charge of the boutique and Mrs. Lawrence Minnix is the cookie-candy sale chairman. The co-chairmen are Mrs. Marcel Covel and Mrs. Martin Getchell.

Mrs. Michael Carman, the publicity chairman, indicates that there will be an exceptionally large selection of home-baked goods and lovely Christmas decorations for sale during the two-day fund raiser Dec. 10 and 11.

Dan Larson, yearbook advisor at Balboa High School, is seeking snapshots of scenes around the Balboa campus taken during the past 50 years. Reason for the search, the impending golden anniversary of the school's opening and the special edition of the yearbook that will be published in conjunction with that event.

Past yearbook pictures cannot be reproduced, due to the printing technique, so all new material must be located. If you have pictures taken at Balboa please write your name, address and the year the picture was taken, as well as the identities, if known, of persons in the picture. (Remember to use a soft tipped pencil or pen so that the picture is not imprinted with the writing.) Picture should be mailed to Larson at 1000 Cayugo Ave., San Francisco.

All pictures will be returned to senders after copies have been made.
